

Arcadian

Note: This article is for the pureblood Arcadian species. For information on their history and government, see Democratic Republic of Avisten and New Incipere.

Arcadians are an ancient race of avian and humanoid creatures that have evolved from different forms over many eons.

Physiology

Arcadians are a very old and evolved race of creatures that tend to follow a few distinct features. They evolved from a common ancestor, great winged beasts that have long been extinct. Most of all pureblood Arcadians have avian features such as wings, feathers, talons, hollow bones, and advanced respiratory systems. Arcadians are known to have exceedingly fast mutation and evolutionary rates, though it has slowed in recent time.

Notable Forms

- Arcadian Hybrids (Human appearance with Arcadian internals and wings. Common.)
- Human Hybrid (Entirely human appearance, with Arcadian internals. Wingless, Uncommon.)
- Arcadian Harpies (Birdlike bodies with a humanoid stance and head. Very rare.)
- Avecris (Entirely birdlike appearance, with hunched stance and wings. Very rare.)
